Project Description

D
This project sort to:

- N provide incentive for students enrolling in the Diploma of Meat Processing to complete the whole qualification
- G encourage meat processing companies to take greater interest in and provide practical support and encouragement to enrolled students
- L support the industry in meeting the demands for more and more people who have the skills and knowledge to carry it forward in an increasingly competitive world.

H
Benefit for Industry

A
Without the AMPC Diploma of Meat processing scholarship the participants may have never had the benefit of gaining this qualification.

D
The program has bought together a group of people that would not have met otherwise. This group where able to share experiences and encourage each other to excel in furthering their knowledge in leadership and industry business in general.

T
These interactions have driven the participants and encouraged them to not only expand their understanding of the industry but to provide them with a confidence to move towards leadership.

N
The benefit to industry from this program is that these participants are now looking at the industry from a completely different viewpoint, one with drive, understanding of the requirements of the red meat processing industry and one that has the possibilities of new and innovative thinking that comes from seeing things differently.
